Seismic Equipment Solutions Expands Internationally and Forms a New Partner Alliance with xPort Group

Houston, TX (June 1, 2007) – Seismic Equipment Solutions (SES) announced a new partner alliance with xPort Group, Inc., with Sales and Technical Support Centers in Moscow, and London.

This new alliance will place a number of complete systems in the Eastern Hemisphere, and allow xPort Group to access over 70,000 channels of seismic equipment including the latest technology in the industry. This includes I/O System Four Scorpion, I/O FireFly (The latest in Multi Component, Point Receiver, Wireless Technology) as well as Sercel 408 and 428 equipment.

Glen Huscroft, president of SES, commented, “xPort Group is uniquely positioned to extend our reach into the Eastern Hemisphere regions. They have extensive experience and contacts in the Eastern Hemisphere, and have established a successful business within the energy industry which they can leverage to promote our products and services.”

Eric Blossom, President of xPort Group, remarked, “We believe there is a tremendous market for leased seismic equipment in the Eastern Hemisphere, particularly in the Former Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and North Africa. The availability and use of lease equipment has enabled companies to operate more efficiently and cost effectively, especially in remote areas. We will expand on the success of SES in North America and leverage our established network of clients to offer comprehensive services”.

SES and xPort Group will be promoting their partnership, products and services at the upcoming European Association of Geoscientists and Engineers (EAGE) in London on June 11-14, 2005.
